FORAKER'S REPLY.

In a statement last nightSenator Foraker took up recent charges made by William R. Hearst and President Roosevelt, explaining his temporary connection with the Standard Oil Company, discussing the Brownsville incident and his connection with the rate bill.

The statement also contains a bitter attack on the president and Mr. Taft and what is accepted as a direct appeal to the negroes to vote against Taft.

"That I was employed by the company," says the senator, "was never concealed or denied. On the contrary, such employment was well known at the time to all concerned."

He reiterates his former statement that his employment by the Standard Oil Company had nothing to do with anything in which the government was interested and ended long before any prosecution by the goverament was undertaken.

"From the beginning of our government, senators and congressmen who were lawyers have been regarded as free to continue the practice of their profession if they so desired during their terms of office so far as they might be able to do so without interfering with their public duties, and in such practice free to take any kind of employment that was offered which did not in any way conflict with their duties as members of Congress.

Senator Foraker then cites his activity in behalf of the Elkins law, under which the Standard was prosecuted, as evidence of the attitude toward the company after his employment by it ceased. Then he brings forward a letter from John D. Archbold dated May 7, 1906, asking if he would take a retainer in the event of action in the Ohio courts. His reply, dated May 9, was that he could not do so because he had found it necessary to give up practice and also "because of my relations to the public service," although he would have been glad to do it if things were otherwise. He produces the letter of Archbold of February 25, 1902, regarding the defeat of the Jones bill in the Senate, which was quoted by Hearst:

He again specifically denies the Hearst charges and brings more correspondence to show that the $50,000 draft sent him by Archbold was to help someone buy the Ohio State Journal, and says that the dates of the letters show that the money was sent almost a month before the letter about the Jones bill.

Then Senator Foraker goes on to the president's attack on him and says:

"Notwithstanding that the president says, in his answer to Mr. Bryan of September 28, that I was the representative and champion and defender of corporations in the Senate, there is not a word of truth in any such statement, whether made by him or anybody else, and there is not a scrap of evidence that can be produced supporting any such charge that cannot be as fully and satisfactorily explained as has been explained in the letter about the Jones bill and the proposed purchase of the Ohio State Journal."

Mr. Foraker says he has not at any time nor in any way sought Mr. Taft's help for re-election to the Senate, and continues:

"When Mr. Taft's candidacy for the presidency was first announced I was surprised to learn from the newspapers that the programme of those having it in charge involved my elimination from public life. An open declaration of war, such as the 'elimination' proposition involved, naturally brought controversy and strife, when there should have been only peace. Finally, Mr. Cox announced a harmony proposition—Taft for President, Harris for Governor and me for Senator.

"He did that on his own motion, not only without any request from me, but contrary to my desires. Nevertheless, I at once publicly announced that if that expressed the wish of the republicans of Ohio no one would support Judge Taft more cordially than I would.

"Thereupon, Mr. Burton gave out an interview in which he stated that Mr. Taft would not accept from the republicans of Ohio an indorsement for the presidency if coupled with an indorsement of me for the senatorship. This appeared to be such a gross public insult and so uncalled for that hostilities were immediately resumed. They continued until Mr. Taft was nominated. Then, so far as I was concerned, they stopped, and I supposed from the character of Mr. Taft's response to my note of congratulation that they had stopped on his part; at least I was so assured by his friends and managers, and in that connection I was also assured that Mr Burton had no authority to give out his offensive interview."

The senator seeks to justify his opposition to the rate bill by declaring that its effect has been pernicious, saying:

"I need not repeat the arguments I have so often made to show that turning the control of the ratemaking power over to a commission was calculated to, and has impaired confidence in, railroad securities to such an extent as to stop railroad construction and do much injury to all kinds of business, from which it will require a long time to recover.

"Already the commodities clause has been held to be unconstitutional by one of the most respectable courts in the country. It is commonly acknowledged that it will be an absolute disaster to the whole country if the Supreme Court should reverse this decision.

"Without disparaging genuine morality, it can be truthfully said that less imaginary and professional 'rightness of action' and 'moral awakening' and more common sense in the policies of the administration would have been better for the country and would have excited less of that opposition of which Mr. Taft's letter complains.

"I have in mind," he says, "not the stopping indefinitely of adequate railroad construction at a time when it is so badly needed, nor the losses amounting to billions of dollars which have been sustained on account of the shrinkage in values of all kinds of securities, but the empty dinner pails and suffering families of unemployed wage-workers and the humbler classes of people to be found by thousands in every section of the Union. Responsibility for such results is serious."

For this condition the senator holds Mr. Roosevelt responsible."

"But what manner of man is Judge Taft, anyhow?

"July 20, 1907, when he wrote the letter the president publishes, he was so devoted to the trust-smashing policies of the administration that he could not consent to be made president if, as a part of the same movement, I was to be honored with a re-election to the Senate, because of my opposition to that special feature of 'my policies,' and now since the Standard Oil Company matter there is manifested the most unusual indignation. Apparently every man who has any relation to the company is to be driven out of public life. If so, I shall probably have a great deal of company.

* * *

"But if the Standard Oil Company was in good enough repute only three years ago to warrant Judge Taft in recommending Judge Doyle and President Roosevelt in appointing him to a judgeship, much more was it in sufficiently good repute when six or seven years earlier, before any of the recent virulent attacks were made on it, to warrant me in accepting employment of the character mentioned."

Of the Brownsville affair Senator Foraker says:

"In view of Judge Taft's statement, I trust I may be allowed to repeat what I have said a number of times—that in this whole matter I had no revenges to seek or personal ends to serve, but was anxious to see that common justice was done to the representatives of a noble and loyal race, every one of whom is by nature a republican."

"In other words, the Brownsville proceeding was not only all Judge Taft said it was, but in addition to being designing and selfish, it was prompted by the 'representatives of law-defying corporations to bring discredit upon the administration for its policy with respect to them.'

"This is worse than the president's claim that the panic of last October was precipitated by a lot of rich men in Wall street, who wanted to bankrupt themselves and the whole country that they might discredit him; and worse even than the story that these same men raised a fund of $5,000,000 with which to prevent him from naming his chosen successor. I happen to know better than anybody else can know that there is not the slightest ground for such a charge. It is invention pure and simple and, judging by the frequency with which the president is bringing the matter to the front, born of that disquiet which comes to the conscience when there is consciousness of having done a great wrong."

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 26, 1908.

WHILE there are many passages in Senator Foraker's letter which President Roosevelt will experience difficulty in refuting, there is a vein of resentment throughout the entire production, such as might have been expected from a disappointed man or one suffering from illtreatment. His indirect attempt to divert the negro vote from the president's candidate is plain by his reference to the Brownsville affair. Among other things he says:

I was anxious to see that common justice was done to the representatives of a noble and loyal race, every one of whom is by nature a republican. Can it be possible that the president wants to defeat Judge Taft? That cannot be, and yet he could hardly do any other one thing better calculated to lose him votes, for no self-respecting negro, reading what Judge Taft says in this letter and adding it to all that has gone before, can vote for him without feeling that he is making a greater sacrifice than most men, white or black, are willing to make.

The senator's attack on the president by laying the present depressed commercial conditions at his door, will doubtless have its influence at the coming election. He whirls the empty dinner pail in Mr. Roosevelt's face and charges him with depleting it. The senator says:

I have in mind not the stopping indefinitely of adequate railroad construction at a time when it is so badly needed nor the losses amounting to billions of dollars which have been sustained on account of the shrinkage in values of all kinds of securities, but the empty dinner pails and suffering families of unemployed wage-workers and the humbler classes of people to be found by thousands in every section of the union. Responsibility for such results is serious. It is the first time we have had anything like it under a republican administration. Who caused all this? Not Providence. He has been generously indulgent. All our natural conditions are favorable to a resumption of the fullest prosperity, and yet it does not come. A million brimful dinner pails have been kicked over. We know that the policies of the republican party filled them. Whose policies emptied them? Whose policies emptied them? I am at least thankful, profoundly so, that no one has ever charged—not even my bitterest enemy—that any dinner pail has ever been emptied or that any wage-worker has ever lost a day's wages by reason of any act, or speech, or vote of mine. It was because I thought I foresaw all these disasters that I would not be stood up by the president shoulder to shoulder with the democratic senators to vote in support of policies that they rightfully, as I thought, claimed as their own.

REPORTS are in circulation that Treasurer Sheldon, Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, who figured in the $5,000,000 conspiracy, which the president thought he discovered last year, and William Nelson Cromwell, of New York, who has been and perhaps is now an attorney of E. H. Harriman, and other "undesirable citizens" or "frenzied financiers" may be forced off the national republican committee. Turn the rascals out!

SENATOR FORAKER has been eliminated, Col. Dupont forced out, Gov. Haskell resigned and a statement by the president of the United States (who has vilify nearly everyone in sight) has been designated "in fewer letters than falsehood." It is now hoped that politics will simmer down and that principles and not men be discussed during the remainder of the campaign.

IT IS understood that members of his Cabinet have advised Mr. Roosevelt not to carry on a daily colloquy with politicians. Good advice; but will he heed it?

"KEEP out of jail and vote for Bryan," was the advice given a gathering of colored people by Rev. Dr. S. L. Corrothers, colored, in Baltimore yesterday. No better advice could have been given.

WHEN a certain class of individuals fall out then honest people get their cues.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Sept. 26.

President Roosevelt told J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia that he did not see how he could well make any speeches this campaign. Moore, in defining the president's attitude, said the president felt that if he took the stump, the call for his presence would come from too many states for him to accept. The president to had to decline an invitation to be present at the Founders Day celebration October 4, but assured Moore that the government would give them plenty of ships and soldiers.

The statement of Senator Foraker, relative to his connection with the Standard Oil Co., in which he aggressively assailed President Roosevelt and Judge Taft, was read with much interest at the White House and was discussed by the president and a number of his official callers. It is announced that there is no present intention of replying to it.

Warning was sent out from the Navy Department today to the Cruiser Prairie, which is about half way between Norfolk and Panama, that a hurricane is sweeping up from the south of Porto Rico in a west by northwest direction.

A new high power powder, and projectile which will carry nearly 75 per cent further than the largest projectiles of any army in the world, have been developed for the United States by the ordnance bureau of the army under Brigadier General Wm. Crozier.

Who will be the next? This is the question of the hour in the camps of both political parties. The feeling of relief over clearing of the atmosphere by reason of the forced retirement of Treasurer Haskell on the democratic side and of Speakers' Manager Du Pont on the republican side, is combined with one of anxiety. Will it become necessary to purge the high councils in both parties of other men who are accused of sinister affiliation with law defying corporations? Names of republicans and democrats prominent in the conduct of the present campaign are being freely mentioned today as the possible next victims of the indignation of Roosevelt and Bryan. No one knows what Mr Hearst has up his sleeve. That he has other cards to play is not doubted. Will Roosevelt and Bryan try to beat Hearst to it? That would be good politics, and it would not be very surprising if the turning out of Haskell and DuPont were but the beginning of a general house cleaning, the like of which has never before characterized a national campaign. In the absence of Mr. Taft on his speaking tour, the republican broom is being wielded by President Roosevelt. Mr. Bryan himself is in charge of the purging operations of the democratic household. Some of Taft's friends feel that it is particularly unfortunate that the revelations should have come at this particular time. The result has been to obscure to a considerable degree the work he is doing among the folks out west. That is one reason why the president's advisers yesterday induced him to withhold for the present a contemplated reply to Governor Haskell's attack upon the chief executive. They feel that Taft should have a better show to get under the spot light.

By threatening to publish a letter he had received from Frank H. Hitchcock, manager of Judge Taft's candidacy for the republican nomination for president, in which Mr. Hitchcock directed him to do certain political work for the candidate, Postmaster Denham, at Clarksburg, W. Va., has successfully resisted being disciplined for pernicious political activity.

A telegram received at Leesburg announces the death yesterday at Blowing Rock, N. C., of Mrs. Antoinette Evans, aged 67, wife of James Evans, of Florence, S. C. Mrs. Evans was, prior to her marriage, a Miss Powell, daughter of the late William Alexander Powell, of Leesburg.

William Rice, assistant agent for the Norfolk and Western Railway at Toms Creek, Tazewell county, last night shot and instantly killed Section Foreman James Crawford near the Roanoke station. It is said the men quarreled over a shipment of whisky which Crawford claimed was in the express office addressed to him. Rice was arrested.

John Watson, Bickel Watson and Milton Parker, three negroes who escaped recently from Stafford jail, were met yesterday in the public road by J. Clarence Heflin, of Stafford county, who recognized them. Heflin put his hand in his back pocket and shouted to the men to throw up their hands. The negroes obeyed and he marched them to Stafford and they were lodged in jail again. Heflin was not armed, but his bluff was effective.

HASKELL HAS RESIGNED.

Gov. Haskell, of Oklahoma, has resigned his position as treasurer of the democratic national committee. The announcement came verbally at midnight last night at Chicago, the Oklahoma executive stating that he would give out a formal letter of resignation later.

Gov. Haskell arrived in Chicago from Oklahoma at 9 p. m., in response to a telegraphic demand from Mr. Bryan for a conference at the Auditorium Annex this morning. Mr. Bryan was hurrying to Chicago from Indianapolis by another train.

Gov. Haskell's resignation was announced by himself three hours after his arrival in Chicago from Guthrie, and after he had conferred with officers of the democratic national committee. In giving out his decision, Gov. Haskell, in response to a question, declared he did not desire to be responsible for any embarrassment which might result to the democratic party by retaining the office of treasurer.

Addressing two large gatherings yesterday Mr. Bryan reiterated his charge that President Roosevelt was not giving him a square deal, but that the president was using federal officeholders as a republican asset. He hurled ridicule at Judge Taft's tariff revision trusts.

Horace J. Day, aged 15 years, committed suicide by shooting himself in Philadelphia yesterday in the presence of 15-year-old Florence Marshall, his schoolgirl sweetheart, because he had been forbidden paying attention to her to the neglect of his studies.

The International Fishery Congress yesterday completed its deliberations in Washington. A series of important resolutions was passed in omnibus form. Many prizes were awarded by the committees for articles and suggestions as to the various modes of fish culture.

Sixteen charges of misconduct appear in Helen Kelly Gould's amended complaint against her husband, Frank J. Gould, whom she is suing in New York for a divorce. Some of the paragraphs give the names of the women co-respondents, and these were carefully concealed by the lawyer who appeared before Justice Giegerich yesterday.

Having by his strange actions frightened several women waiting at the Chatham Square station of the Third avenue elevated line, in New York, for a train, Daniel Marguetis, 22 years old, jumped from the structure yesterday and landed on the sidewalk at Doyers and Mott street, within six inches of Policeman Waller. The man, who had gone insane, was so severly injured that he will die.

Washington has again been invaded by clever apartment house sneak thieves, books at police headquarters showing that a number of houses and apartments have been entered. The largest haul was made in the residence of Mrs. Helen J. Paulding, 2107 H street northwest, between 2 and 6 p. m. yesterday, when none of the family was at home. The thief or thieves succeeded in getting away with $191 in notes, and as the work showed haste, it is the belief of the police that the house would have been ransacked had not the intruders been frightened away.

Investigation at the Interior Department has brought forth the fact that the franchise to the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, in Oklahoma, was issued by Ethan Allen Hitchcock, then Secretary of the Interior, as charged by Governor Haskell. It further appeared that Mr. Hitchcock granted the franchise unwillingly, and only after he had once refused to do so. When the secretary did grant it, he yielded to an explicit instruction from President Roosevelt. The facts are a matter of record, in letter files and elsewhere in the Interior Department.

The will of Winfield Tucker, who died at Lake Toxaway, N. C., on September 5, was filed in New York yesterday for probate. It disposes of an estate said to be worth almost $1,000,000, and the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Episcopal Church is residuary legatee. During his last illness, Tucker, who was 65 years old, was attended by Miss Marie Lowe, a nurse, of Courtlandt, Ala. It was reported that Tucker and Miss Lowe were to have been married on the day Tucker died. It was thought that Tucker had provided liberally for Miss Lowe in his will, but she is not named.

ASSAULTS THE CASHIER.

Hugh M. Kerr, cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, the largest financial institution of Norfolk, was assaulted in his office yesterday afternoon by John Wilson, 29 years old, who declares that he came from Europe to kill Kerr.

He struck the cashier on the head three times with a blackjack, laying the scalp open, continuing the assault until he was overcome by employes of the bank.

When taken to the police station, a loaded pistol was found in Wilson's pocket. It is said that Kerr will prefer no charges against Wilson.

Wilson was at one time employed in the bank, and has good family connections in Norfolk. Wilson will not say why he assaulted Kerr. Kerr is said to have expressed the opinion that Wilson is crazy.

Wilson is locked in the police station charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Bellamy Storer, former ambassador to Austria, and his wife, the heroine of the "Dear Maria" letters and the passage at arms with President Roosevelt that resulted in the recall of Mr. Storer, arrived in New York today. David B. Francis, former governor of Missouri, accompanied the Storers. He said he expected to take an active part in the campaign.

Today's Telegraphic News

Haskell's Resignation.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—William Jennings Bryan arrived here today and immediately began a long conference with the democratic leaders here with reference to the resignation of Charles N. Haskell as treasurer of the democratic national committee. The candidate was hurried to the Auditorium Annex accompanied by Vice-Chairman Lamb and Josephus Daniels and the party leaders now in town joined him in consultation.

The resignation of Governor Haskell came after midnight, three hours after his arrival here and after the newspaper men had importuned him for hours for a statement referring to the Hearst charges. That the resignation was tendered at the direct solicitation of Bryan and other leaders, Haskell has practically admitted, and his action was the direct result of the charges by President Roosevelt, William R. Hearst and others. When Governor Haskell arrived last night he went direct to the office of the treasurer of the democratic national committee.

Shortly after every prominent democrat in the city appeared at headquarters for a conference. At the end of this informal meeting Haskell emerged with the announcement of his resignation. With eyes flashing the Oklahoma governor almost shouted at the scribes: "All those who have attacked me shall pay for it, from President Roosevelt down. He has, by his acts, placed himself in the position of a private citizen."

Accompanying the announcement of his resignation, Haskell made public the following telegram to Chairman Mack, of the national committee, sent last night:

My Dear Sir: In pursuance of information as to your date for return here, when I went home before, I assumed I would find you here upon my return today. I now learn that you will be detained in the east until Tuesday, and as I must be home on Monday, I leave tomorrow. The president and his candidates have joined forces with Mr. Hearst and three Wall street brokers to make a personal fight against me notwithstanding the president in his answer to Mr. Bryan abandoned his charge about the Ohio Standard Oil cases; yet by all the means at the command of the government and the millions of Hearst and Wall street allies they persist in a vicious, unwarranted and untruthful attack on me. Personally, I welcome their attack, and shall meet it with all the vigor at my command. I shall treat them all as private citizens and subject to the penalties of the law which they merit. In this I know I shall have the aid of my neighbors at home for all proper purposes; but my time must be free from the other demands here. Important beyond any battle at the polls in the last generation is the pending contest. I would not for one moment consider remaining in any way connected with the committee and, therefore, tender my resignation as treasurer of the democratic national committee in order that the slightest contest of my own could not in any way be used by the president to cloud the sky and shield our opponents from discussing the real issues and laying bare the republican duplicity to the people. Sincerely yours,

"CHARLES N. HASKELL."

Most of the democrats who conferred with Haskell asked him to withhold his resignation until Bryan arrived. He refused to do so, however, indicating that Bryan had complete knowledge of his action when he replied: "No, what's the use; it can make no difference in my decision."

Haskell will return to Oklahoma today. In his written reply to a question asked by the newspapermen, Haskell denied that Bryan had asked him to resign, or that Bryan knew about the charges against him before Hearst made them public. Haskell said he would like to be informed if former Attorney General Monnett of Ohio had sent him a telegram urging him to have John M. Sheets arrested for libel because Sheets had said he knew Haskell was guilty of an attempt to bribe officials in the interest of the Standard Oil Company.

The governor denies that he had, as treasurer of the democratic national committee, ever asked corporations to contribute to the campaign funds or that he had been connected with the Citizens' Alliance at Muskogee. He also made general denial of the other charges against him.

During Bryan's stay here Haskell was summoned to appear before the candidate and they had a fifteen minutes conference. What Bryan said to Haskell and what Haskell said to Bryan is not known.

Bryan left headquarters shortly before 9 o'clock to go to the northwestern depot where he took a train for Madison, Wis.

He refused to discuss Haskell's resignation or his probable successor as treasurer of the national campaign committee.

Sunk in Collision.

New York, Sept. 26.—Off Race Rock, made famous by F. Hopkinsons Smith's story of "Caleb West, master Diver," the Fall River Liner, Commonwealth, collided with and sank the Norwegian steamship Volund early today in much the same manner as predicted by Smith's stirring novel of the New London, Conn., shoals water. The two vessels, each of heavy tonnage, came together with a crash in the midst of a dense fog.

On board the Commonwealth were fully a thousand passengers, while the Volund carried only her crew of seventeen men.

Without the slightest warning the liners ran head on. The passengers aboard the Commonwealth were all asleep.

In the panic that followed many passengers were thrown to the decks and only the coolness of the officers of the passenger steamer saved a second Slocum disaster.

The Volund sank within two minutes after she had been rammed. Thirteen of the crew went down with the ship, but were picked up by small boats from the Commonwealth. Four men, including the captain, stepped aboard the Commonwealth as the prow of the Volund heaved high in the air and disappeared.

On board the Commonwealth riot reigned for a moment. The fire crew and seamen, however, manned the boat's sides and the captain shouted orders to restrain anyone from jumping overboard, as the ship was not struck below water line. The only damage to the Commonwealth was a hole in her bow and a severe strain on her bull timbers.

The Volund was struck below the water line and rapidly filled. She was on route from this port to Nova Scotia. Late advices say no one was drowned.

As soon as the collision took place the Commonwealth began to work her wireless apparatus and inside of half an hour had about her the Sound steamers Maine of the New Bedford line, Plymouth and Providence of the Providence line and Priscilla of the Fall River line. The crews of these vessels aided in picking up the 18 men from the foundered steamer who were floating about on pieces of wreckage.

Mr. Hitchcock's View.

New York, Sept. 26.—So far as I have heard George R. Sheldon, republican national treasurer, is not to resign because of his corporation affiliations, "was National Chairman Hitchcock's answer to a querry at headquarters, today. Of all charges that Arthur Vorys was under a cloud and that he might be called upon to drop out, Mr. Hitchcock was also uninformed. "I can't say if he is to quit. So far as I know there is nothing in such reports," he said, "but, of course, if anything happens further you newspaper men will hear about it."

Asked if Mr. Roosevelt letters on the situation and his denunciations of democratic leaders had proven vote getters in the west Mr. Hitchcock displayed more hesitation. Finally he said: "I have my own opinion, of course, I believe that the president's entrance into the latter part of the campaign," and he emphasized "latter," "have had a good effect. But I don't want to be quoted as to the president. That is his own affair." Mr. Hitchcock announced that no successor to General DuPont as head of the speakers bureau will be made until after a conference the first of next week.

Triple Tragedy.

New York, Sept. 26.—Bloodstains on the ceiling of an apartment in Brooklyn, led to the disclosure today of a triple tragedy, the death of young Ella Soden from consumption and the suicide by choloroform of her mother, Mrs. Mary Soden, aged 61, and brother, Edwin, Soden, 38, who were overcome by grief at the death of the girl. The tragedy was not discovered until a stain appeared in the ceiling of the room below, occupied by Mrs. Paula Rendell. She notified the police who broke into the Soden apartment. The death of the girl, Ella, had been preceded by a hemorrhage, and in the course of days had caused the spots on the ceiling beneath.

On the bureau was found a letter addressed to Christopher Weizel, of Parma, O., and signed by the brother of the girl. "Dear Uncle," it read, "Ella having died, mother and I have lost all interest in life and see no reason why we should continue the struggle."

Shah's Orders New Election.

Teheran, Sept. 26.—In the hope of checking the revolutionary wave that is sweeping Persia, the shah has ordered a new election and called for the convening of the assembly and Senate on November 14.

Berlin, Sept. 26.—A decisive engagement is being fought in Tabrix between the shah's forces under Ain-El-Dowleh and a large army of the nationalists or constitutionalists, commanded by Satar Kahn, according to dispatches received here. After several defeats the shah's commander withdrew and for the last two weeks has been recruiting and reorganizing his army.

With machine guns and heavy artillery he attacked the revolutionist stronghold in the Khiaban quarter and completely destroyed it.

Disastrous Fire.

Fond Du Lac, Wis., Sept. 26.—Fire wrought a million dollars' damage in an hour broke out shortly after midnight and the destruction of the entire city was for a time threatened. Aid was being rushed here from other cities, the local fire department being unable to check the flames. The fire was started by an explosion of gasoline in an automobile garage. The wind was blowing strongly from the south, and it was thought the flames could not be quenched short of the shores of Lake Winnebago. Five churches and a score of homes were burned. The fire was gotten under control at 9 o'clock.

A Denial.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 26.—Senator Stephen B. Elkins has made a statement in which he says that the charges brought by Louise Lonsdale, the actress, in her breach of promise suit against his son, Blaine Elkins, according to a dispatch from Rome, are wholly without foundation and an attempt at blackmail. "So far as any demand being made upon me for money for my son is concerned," said the senator, "I brand it a deliberate lie. I never paid a dollar to her or to any other woman on my son's account."

Haskell's Successor?

New York, Sept. 26.—Oklahoma, according to stories at national democratic headquarters here is not to lose the treasurership of the Bryan campaign A. J. Doolin, present assistant treasurer, with officers in Chicago, is said to be the man who will succeed Haskell. Doolin, who is also from Oklahoma, is declared to have been receiving the bulk of popular subscriptions to the Bryan cause.

Here thy loss I deeply feel;
But 'tis God that hath bereft me,
He can all my sorrows heal.

BY HIS LOVING WIFE.

Reception Postponed.

Manilla, Sept. 26.—At a conference today between Governor Smith and the reception committee of the American fleet it was decided to postpone the formal welcome to the American fleet until its return from Japan and China. This action was taken on account of the prevalence of cholera in Manila. The fleet will arrived in the Philippines October 1, but will remain only long enough to coal, proceeding then to Japan and Amoy, China.

Bulgaria Will Fight.

Constantinople, Sept. 26.—That Turkey is thoroughly alarmed at the prospect of trouble with Bulgaria over the latter's contemplated control of that part of the Turkish Oriental Railway that passes through Bulgaria, is shown by her appeal to the powers. Bulgaria's troops are massed along the line and declare that they will not surrender control without a fight. Bulgaria's boldness in the present move is believed to be due to secret knowledge of support from Austria-Hungary.

Taft to Reply.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Sept. 26.—William H. Taft will take cognizance of the Foraker muddle before the sun sets today. After reading the public statement of Senator Foraker, in which the Ohio senator arraigned President Roosevelt and Judge Taft for accepting the Hearst charges as true without investigation, the candidate announced that he would prepare a statement to be made public later in the day.

MR. DUPONT OUT.

Gen. T. Coleman Dupont, of Delaware, head of the bureau of campaign speakers of the national committee, has resigned as head of that bureau, and also as a member of the executive committee of the national committee and his resignation has been accepted. No successor to Mr. Dupont has been selected.

In his letter to Chairman Hitchcock Mr. Dupont says:

"Recently I have noticed various criticism, of myself being the director of the speakers' bureau and a member of the executive committee on account of my relations to the E. I. Dupont de Nemours Powder Company, which is being sued by the government. The merits of that suit will be determined in the due and orderly course of judicial procedure.

"I have always been a loyal supporter of the republican party, both in the state and nation, and I am not willing to be in any wise the means of bringing criticism on the party organization, however unfounded I may deem such criticism to be.

"I, therefore, respectfully tender my resignation as a member of the executive committee and as director of the speakers' bureau, fully appreciating the great courtesy which I have uniformly received at the hands of yourself and my other associates."

THE STOLEN HORSE.

An Old Proverb With a New Application.

The woods are full of "so-called" remedies for Baldness.

You may call anything in creation a remedy, but to use them is like locking the stable after the horse is stolen.

Baldness and Dandruff are caused by a germ—if you don't kill the germ the germ will kill the hair.

Scientists have labored with the problem of a preventive for Baldness for many years.

Newbro's Herpicide is the product of a modern idea, and will cure Dandruff and prevent Baldness because germs cannot exist when you apply Herpicide.

Herpicide is a valuable hair dressing and scalp disinfectant as well as a cure for Dandruff.

Sold by Ernest L. Allen & Co., agents. Two sizes 50c and $1.00. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. 9s

We Lead—Others Follow

There are few, if any, of the people who do not want the best goods for the least money. Taking this statement for a fact and believing it to be true—a further truth presents itself, that of ability to pay high prices for the best articles. If the pocket will not stand the strain for liquors which range from $4 to $8 per gallon, a few lots can be mentioned from $2 to $2 60. We do no claim that this whisky equals the other, but we are confident of the fact that it is the best in the city for the money. Try a gallon and be convinced that we represent nothing we cannot execute.

LAID TO REST.

The body of Lieutenant Thomas E. Selfridge was laid at rest in Arlington Cemetery yesterday afternoon with full military honors, within half a mile of the spot where he met his death last week, in the fall of the Wright aerodrone at the Fort Myer grounds. The services were witnessed by a large throng of spectators. The body was removed from the receiving vault shortly after 4 o'clock, and the funeral procession was formed. Is was headed by the Thirteenth cavalry band, on foot. The band was followed by a firing squad of cavalrymen in full dress uniform. Immediately behind this detachment came a caisson bearing the casket with the officer's body. The casket was wrapped in an American flag and was almost hidden from view by a mass of flowers.

ELOPERS ARE HAPPY.

Mrs. Annie Chinn and her husband, John Chinn, are now happy. They were married Thursday, and back of the marriage is a romatic story. The couple, John Chinn and Miss Annie Sheffley, eloped from Vienna, Va., or to be more explicit, when Miss Sheffley's parents objected to Mr. Chinn's suit, the young woman boarded a train and went to Washington, met her suitor, and was married Thursday evening. The father of the young bride arrived shortly after his daughter and located the couple at 407 Eleventh street northwest. He was too late to prevent the ceremony, however, and bestowed his blessing.

HEBREW NEW YEAR.

There was a full attendance of the Israelites of this city at the synagogue last night where services appropriate to the Jewish New Year were held. They were conducted in an impressive manner by Rabbi Samuel Schwartz, of Cincinnati. His discourse was also greatly enjoyed. The speaker said the occasion, apart from its spiritual import, afforded a rest for the mind, which was essential to all, especially in this active age. The rabbi also spoke in an interesting manner of the human conscience, during which he made many practical observations. Rabbi Schwartz is a young man and bids fair to become prominent in his calling. The stores conducted by the Israelites in this city were closed today. They will reopen, however, at sunset this evening.

IMPROVING WHARF PROPERTY.

The march of improvement finds the business men around the wharves engaged in getting their property in shape in anticipation of a busy season. The wharf under construction for Mr. DeW. Aitcheson is almost completed little now remaining to be done except a little filling in. The wharf property to be used by T. F. Burroughs, Son and Co. is about completed and before many days the buzz of the milling machinery will be heard on the Strand between Prince and King streets.

TRAINMEN BROTHERHOOD.

Robert E. Lee Lodge 418 Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of this city cordially invites the public to be present at the celebration of their 25th anniversery to be held at the Opera House at 3 o'clock p. m. tomorrow, Sunday September 27. Hon. C. C. Carlin will address the meeting, Solos will be sung by Mr. M. L. Dinwiddie, and Mrs. T. A. Hulfish. Mrs. Charles G. Lennon will be the accompanist. The meeting will be opened with prayer by Rev. C. D. Bulla and closed by Rev. S. K. Cockrell.

Fred Birrell; William Torrence, his partner, Robt. S. Barret; Jeremiah Growler, in search of his health, David E. Roney; James Jones, Edward J. Fleming; Mr. Harrison, a retired capitalist, Thomas Chauncey; Police Sergeant Ripley, the whole force, Frank W. Smith; Otto, a waiter, Harry Fleischmann; Vivian Parker, Fred Parker's wife, Mrs. A. D. Montier; Dr. Rogers, hotel physician, R. M. Latham, jr.; Mildred Green, her cousin, Miss Ida N. Breen; Hebe Worthy, growler's niece, Miss Marie Fannon; Cora, a maiden, Mrs. H. Friedlander. This play is one continuous roar of laughter from start to finish.

DR. BENNETT STILL HERE.

Dr. Bennett is still delighting the people of the city with his free entertainments and at the same time doing an immense amount of good. Men have been cured in this town of internal trouble, who before the arrival of Dr. Bennett did not know what disease they had. Dr. Bennett has changed his location to the corner of St. Asaph and Wilkes, and his office is located at the corner of Pitt and Wilkes. He will be here till the 5th of October and will be glad to see his many friends or others to whom he may be of service.

In the case of Col. S. D. Hicks vs. Capt. Isaac F. Norman, judgment on a note was rendered for the plaintiff.

The plaintiffs in the above cases were represented by Mr. Robinson Moncure, of this city.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

There will be public speaking at the Opera House next Tuesday night under the auspices of the Bryan, Kern and Carlin Club. Hon. Samuel Kelley, of Richmond, and Capt. R. G. Parks, of Page county, will speak. These gentlemen are eminent speakers and will highly entertain those who accept the opportunity to hear them. The gallery on this occasion has been reserved for the ladies and it is hoped they will grace the occasion at this initial meeting.

POCKET PICKED

Constable A. J. Payne of Fairfax county, the most evergetic officer the county has had for some years, is in trouble. He has lost his gun and is afraid to go home in the dark. He reported to the police station that he had been 'touched' in the market this afternoon and the gun was the most important article missing. He was anxious for the police to help him as he said everybody knew his gun.

BROKE THE RECORD.

Maurice Postlethwate, who is on a 1,000 miles walk from Baltimore to Pensacola, was here today. From Baltimore to Washington the 12 hour record was broken, as he left the former city at 9:21 a. m., and arrived in Washington at 7:55 p. m. He left Washington at 8:30 this morning, reaching Alexandria at 10 o'clock. He left for Manassas at 12 o'clock.

WRIGHT IMPROVES.

Orville Wright spent a comfortable day and seemed cheerful yesterday. He was depressed for a time over the funeral of Lieutenant Selfridge, but the moodiness wore off in a short while. Mr. Wright has been much brightened by the success of his brother in Le Mans, France, and the announcemeht that he will be able to leave his bed in five weeks.

PIGEON LOST.

A carrier pigeon bearing a tag with the initials S. A. 11686 flew in the window at the residence of Mr. Charles Steiner on north Royal street yesterday seemingly bewildered. It was turned loose this morning but does not seem to want to leave Alexandria. This is the way with everybody or everything which locates here—all are loath to leave.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The Circuit Court for the city will commence its fall term on Monday. Judge Thornton will open the court but on Tuesday Judge Harrison will try the case of the Washington Southern Railway Co. vs. City Council—the Henry street track case. The repairs to the court room have so far progressed that the court will be held therein next week.

RACED TODAY.

The keel boat owners met last night at the Elkton and decided to race. The contest came off this afternoon and five boats took part. The yacht Augusta was the stake boat and was located at Fort Foot. The speed boat Mae acted as starter. The boats started at 2.30 at Hammond's wharf. Many sail and power boats were on the river watching the result. The judges were Messrs Raymond Hulfish, F. C. Spinks and Bruce Emerson, who were on the speed boat Mae.

The speed boats Mae and Kindo were in the river and were skirmishing preparatory for a trial of speed. It is supposed that they will get together.

The "Alma," owned by Mr. Wallace Evans, returned first; the "Edna," owned by Mr. Harvey Evans, second; the "Eva," owned by Messrs. Webster and Wildt, third; the "Mary," owned by Mr. Al. Hollins, fourth, and the "Olga," owned by Mr. Samuel Beach, fifth. The race last 1 45 minutes and was witnessed by many people who gathered on the river front.

In a mile "brush" between Mr. Emerson's and Mr. Moore's boats the latter won by about 100 yards.

THE MARKET.

There were but few changes to note in the market this morning. Eggs were weaker, most of the county people disposing of them at 25 a 28 cents per dozen. Tomatoes were lower, selling at 35 a 40 cents per box. The supply of country produce showed no increase over that of last Saturday.

Remarkable Story

The story of Mrs. Matilda Warwick, of Kokomo, Ind., as told below, proves the curative properties of that well-known female remedy, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. Warwick says:

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

"I suffered from pains in my head, shoulders, limbs, side, stomach low down, dizziness, chills, nervousness, fainting spells and other female troubles. I was almost dead. Three doctors did not help me. At last, I took Cardui, and with the first bottle obtained relief. Now I am cured. But for Cardui, I would have been dead." Try Cardui.

TRAINS CRASH IN SNOWSTORM.

Plowing through a snowstorm, eastward bound, a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train, running over the Northern Pacific Railroad, yesterday crashed into a freight train at Young's Point, Mont., where the trains were to pass, and, in the demolition that resulted, nineteen lives were crushed out and eleven persons were injured, several probably fatally. The freight flagman failed to signal the passenger in time to prevent the collision, it is said, because of the snow.

The express car telescoped with the smoking car and most of the fatalities and injuries were of persons in the latter car. The express car was raised over the platform of the smoking car, and the superstructure swept the seats away. Not a passenger in the smoking car escaped death or injury. Passengers in other cars escaped with cuts and bruises.

Fireman Babcock jumped and was killed. Milo Halloway, a brakeman, was killed. The smoking car debris was hopelessly mixed with heads, bodies legs and arms, presenting a horrible sight In on place seven bodies were so tightly wedged together that they were separated only with great difficulty. It was impossible to succor the injured without trampling on the dead.

DIES FROM CARBOLIC ACID.

Mrs. Blanche Cross, 25 years old, of 30 N street southeast Washington, was taken to Casualty Hospital last night suffering from carbolic acid poisoning, and died shortly after reaching the institution.

Mrs. Cross was found in the bedroom of her home by neighbors. A pint bottle, containing a quantity of carbolic acid, lay beside her. The woman's lips were horribly burned, and the carpet near where the bottle lay was burned. Policeman Cullinane, of the Fifth precinct, sent the woman to the hospital.

Mrs. Cross was the wife of Lloyd Cross, an employe of a local corporation. The police say he and his wife had not lived happily during the last two months. They had one child.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is especially recommended for children. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Sold by W F. Creighton & Co.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an east bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore., writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a deathlike look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whisky. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarroea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every pessenger in the car." For sale by W. F. Creighton & Co., and Richard Gibson.
